Technology High School
Newark, NJ

On The Road To Our Graduation by Victoria Theodille

I'm sure we can all remember our first days at Technology High School. They were a mixture of both fear and excitement. We will surely never forget them. We didn't know what was in store for us. As it turned out, we have had four wonderful and exciting years and have been exposed to people who have left lasting impressions on our lives.

Over the course of these four years, we have come to know each other almost like family... teachers and staff are like aunts and uncles we never had... close friends are like brothers and sisters to us... we have developed a bond that will last for a lifetime.

They say time flies when you're having fun. This has truly been the case. Here we are now saying good-bye when it seems like only yesterday our high school days were beginning. We would like to thank everyone who has helped us to come this far, for molding us. Thank you for preparing us to take on the world.

Mission Statement

Technology High School is committed to a three-fold mission of providing a college preparatory program for students who desire to further their formal education, a workplace readiness experience for students interested in pursuing careers in technology and a school-to-career program for students who will pursue their formal education and career path concurrently.

Our Building's History

In our exploration into the history of Technology High School we discovered that the construction of the school, which was built on the former site of the Kearny Homestead, began in December 1911. This school opened September 16, 1913. The school, which was then known as the Newark Normal School, costed $275,000, an extraordinary amount of money for the time. Ernest F. Guilbert of the Board of Education was the supervising architect. Herman C. Schneider Building & Construction Company, a Newark firm, built the structure.

The school has undergone many name changes. It was first called the Newark Normal School; then, in 1913, it became the New Jersey State Normal School in Newark; and in 1937, The New Jersey Teachers College at Newark. It was also used as the Newark Skills Center. In 1972, a new building was funded by the U. S. Department of Education and the State of New Jersey. The building was known as COED (Center for Occupational Education Experimentation & Development). In September 1974, the building was staffed and its first director, Vincent Russomanno, was appointed.

The old building (now Technology High School) was also home to Arts High School during its rebuilding phase. In September 1996, Technology High School, Newark's newest magnet school, opened its doors. Dr. Steven Kramer was its first principal. At Technology High School, we place the emphasis on excellence in the areas of academic and technological training.

We, the graduating class of 2002 dedicate this yearbook to the memory of our beloved teacher and mentor, Frank Marzarella. His sense of humor, generosity and warmth enriched all of us who were privileged to come in contact with him.

Mr. Marzarella always encouraged us, believed in us and inspired us to be the kind of young people whose actions would make our parents and our school proud of us.

Though Mr. Marzarella is no longer with us and we are deeply saddened by his passing, his spirit and innate goodness have forever earned a place in our hearts.
